

Carcinoid-NeuroEndocrine
TUMOUR SOCIETY CANADA

SOCIÉTÉ DES TUMEURS
Carcinoïdes-NeuroEndocrines
DU CANADA

REACH FOR THE NET

NET DONOR ENEWS

October 2016

THANK YOU TO VOLUNTEERS

Support Group Leaders and Support Contacts

CNETS Canada's volunteers are in-kind donors. They have worked hundreds of thousands of hours to ensure that our work gets done and that we are moving forward on our priorities. From 2007 – 2012, CNETS Canada was run completely by volunteers. Today, our volunteers are still the backbone of the organization.

Volunteers come mainly from the NET cancer community. Patients, their family members, friends, doctors, nurses and others all give generously of their talents and expertise to make CNETS Canada what it is today and what it will become tomorrow.

CNETS Canada has a working board of eight directors who skillfully lead and govern the organization. Each board member has a portfolio. Our Scientific and Medical Advisory Board (SMAB) provides the board of directors with independent, expert, multi-disciplinary, and strategic advice on the status of current and upcoming medical and scientific issues. Hailing from across the country, fifteen support group leaders lead in-person and on-line support groups. Our support group leaders and contacts act as our "ears on the ground." They keep us and their communities connected, and do so much more!

CNETS Canada has several active committees including Access to Treatment and Health Policy, Newsletter/Editorial, Fundraising, and Conference Planning. Volunteers from across the country meet by phone to plan and do their work. Our volunteers also participate in fundraisers to raise money for us and hold their own fundraisers. NET cancer specialists and other health care professionals present at CNETS Canada's education events across the country and assist with disease-related knowledge gathering. Still other volunteers help out at events and with specific tasks and activities.

To all of our volunteers who have contributed so much to CNETS Canada, a huge thank you and much gratitude. Your exceptional generosity contributes to an ongoing journey of improving the quality of life and survival rates for NET cancer patients in Canada.